Well, I'll bet you folks have a good paper this week, as I am off in the Vets Hospital and the old lady is at the helm.

Grenada members of the old Headquarters Company will be interested to know that Chester A. Arthur Smith, one of the old Headquarters boys, is up here.

Then, too, others will be interested to know that Leonard Addington who used to be dog robber for General Haynes at Brigade Headquarters is here.

Some of the people in and about Grenada are beginning to doubt that we have such strong representation in Congress after all, as they have sent home no bacon. That's the criterion of greatness these days.

Bride and groom Allen passed thru Grenada Saturday enroute to spend the week-end in Hot Springs. They expect to move to Grenada within the next few weeks.

I hope you all will keep Greenfield and Horn busy with job work and advertising while I am away for, other wise, both of them, especially the former, is likely to get into devilment. Can know how skittish idlers become so quickly.

With the formation of a strong staffed Chamber of Commerce we believe that Grenada is fixing to go ahead faster than ever.

With the coal strike coming on, it is a good thing that the stork depends upon self propulsion instead of steam coal.

Mighty glad to see that Sam Blair is back from a hospital in Jackson and that he hopes his ailment has been removed.

Col. Hoffa has about given up the army camp, so it is another dead issue.

Any day now, we are expecting some of them to throw the Bible at the power trust like I did at Ford.

The weather is getting sort of warm, and I am asking Sam Norris and others to keep close check on Cousin Ed Holcomb to prevent him from becoming overheated with work.

Why should your boy and my boy serve in the army for a dollar a day and have to like it, while workmen already receiving ten times as much are permitted to strike and tie our boys' hands?

TOO GOOD TO KEEP

The amusement created at Grenada Clinic on Monday morning by a negro boy attending his "papa" is worth telling about. An injured negro man, attended by his son, came to the Clinic for medical aid. The patient fainted either from excitement or weakness and before the usual treatment, ammonia, could be given, the negro boy yanked his "papa's" shoe off, held it to the patient's nose, and the cure was instantaneous. The doctors are still laughing about how quickly the patient was restored to consciousness.

By Mrs. T. B. Roeyll, Secy.

Of the many delightful varied programs presented by the program committee of the Twentieth Century Club for the enjoyment of its members, perhaps the most unique was the "Home and Gardens" Tour held Tuesday afternoon, April 1. There was no "April Fool" to the pleasure of this tour.

Mrs. J. C. Hathorn and Miss Lucile Owens, were hostesses for the club on this occasion, and the members met in the home of the former and were served a salad plate of chicken salad, wafers, pickles and fudge cake with coffee. Mrs. Hathorn's antiques were admired and after a short informal business session the group left to view a few of the outstanding beauty spots of our little city.

The first home to be visited was that of Mrs. E. L. Wilkins, who with the assistance of her charming daughter, Eloise, dressed "en costume" for the occasion, met the guests and told the history of the many lovely pieces of family furniture, china, silver and

Guest Speaker at Lions Meeting Friday

(By J. C. Hathorn)

On Friday, March 28, members of the local Lions' Club had the privilege of hearing a very fine talk by Mr. Herbert B. Allen. The speaker was introduced by Mr. W. W. Whitaker, who explained that he first met Mr. Allen in the Veterans' Hospital at Memphis, and came to know him as a man with a very wide knowledge of National and International affairs.

Mr. Allen then discussed problems which are now facing Mississippi and ways and means of meeting these problems. Although he has been in Mississippi for only a short time, the speaker impressed the audience with his wide grasp of affairs and his unusual knowledge of conditions in Mississippi. He expressed concern over the very small amount of Federal money which is being expended in Mississippi and the fact that the state is not prepared for the problems which are being brought on by the World War, and the problems which will follow the termination of the war. The speaker was very optimistic regarding the possibilities of development in this part of the state, and thinks that Grenada, located near the population center of the state, has great possibilities if they are properly developed.

FITCH WILLIAMS WEDDING IS SOLEMNIZED AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

(From Sarasota, Fla. paper)

One of the most exquisite church weddings ever held in Sarasota took place last evening when Miss Margaret Morrison Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Williams, Jr., of Mc Clellan parkway, was married to William Fitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Francis Fitch, of Jacksonville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. Bowman at the First Presbyterian Church.

The altar was banked to the ceiling with palms, in front of which were grouped tall baskets of white calla lilies and white gladioli. Forty seven branched candelabra with white tapers formed a glowing arch above the flowers. The ribbon pews, decorated with clusters of lilies and fern and tied with broad bands of tulle formed an almost phosphorescent bridal aisle in the dim candlelight. Southern smilax and palms adorned the vestibule. Single candles, ferns and lilies filled the windows and niches.

The music was the same as that used at the wedding of the bride's parents, Vernon Kimbrough sang "Until," Mrs. John Fite Robertson, violinist, played "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," followed by Mr. Kimbrough singing "Because." Mrs. Hugh Clark, organist, played the traditional procession from Lohengrin, and during the ceremony she and Mrs. Robertson played "Angels' Serenade."

At the first notes of "Lohengrin" the ushers, David Auster of Jacksonville, Patrick Saunders of Sarasota, and Frank Bennett, of Ocala, cousin of the groom, led the procession and took their places at the altar.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ridley Williams, and Mrs. Frank Knight, of Lake City, and Mrs. Robert Austin of Jacksonville, sisters of the groom, who served as bridesmaids. Miss Charlotte Williams, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Their gowns were of pink tulle, over tulle, fashioned with ruffled skirts and off-the-shoulder bodices. They carried bouquets of Elizabeth tulips backed with silver tricotine leaves.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was ethereally lovely in a gown of Duchess satin. A long fitted bodice topped a full skirt which flared to a short train. Rose Point lace, an heirloom which has been worn in the bride's family for many generations, formed the puffs at the shoulders of the long tight sleeves, and also formed a short flared poplin at the neckline. The long tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of Rose Point and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink orchids and lilies of the valley, and wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and a pair of antique gold bracelets which were her paternal grandmother's.

The groom was attended by his brother, Edward Francis Fitch, Jr., who acted as best man. The single ring ceremony was performed, after which the bride party left to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Following the church ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home for the wedding party and the immediate families of the bride and groom. Here white and pink were used as the color scheme, and calla lilies as the central motif. The house was charmingly decorated with flowers sent from the old family garden at Grenada, Miss., and the wedding gifts were displayed in the sun room. A three-tiered wedding cake was cut by the bride.

Mrs. Williams wore a gown of dusty pink crepe, and wore pearls. Her corsage was purple iris. Mrs. Fitch, mother of the groom, was dressed in white chiffon shot with gold, and wore gardenias in her hair.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitch left last night for a motor trip of undisciplined destination. Mrs. Fitch wore a going-away suit of light-weight wool in a soft shade of pink with navy blue accessories.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

Miss Ann Neely was hostess to a large group of the young social set of Grenada on Saturday evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, entertaining with a buffet supper at 8 o'clock, followed by dancing. This lovely affair and the assembling of friends was but an arrangement for the announcing of the marriage of the brother of the hostess, Mr. Joe Neely to Miss Elizabeth Dugan on January 12.

The manner in which the announcement was made was very clever. The hostess in changing dance records announced that she had a new record, never played before, that she wished to play for their approval. The record was an announcement of the wedding. Shortly after this, the bride and groom left in their car for the Mississippi Coast for their honeymoon. For traveling, the bride wore a navy blue jacket dress, patent slippers and purse, white gloves and hat, the hat adorned by lovely flowing navy blue veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moore were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Moore and Mrs. Ellen E. Moore Sunday afternoon.

Self-medication is dangerous

● The human body is the most complicated mechanism ever created. Not all of its processes are thoroughly understood even by those who devote their lives to a study of them. It is not surprising, therefore, that persons without medical training who attempt to diagnose and prescribe for their own serious ills often do themselves irreparable damage. Have respect for your body. You can never get another. When illness comes consult a physician . . . a licensed M.D. He is a specialist in his line just as we are in the business of filling his prescriptions.

Sunshine In The News

As these lines are written, in beautiful Hot Springs, Arkansas, the inspiring combination of radiant spring sunshine and the highly favorable news radiating from the capital cities of the world, confer a sense of great relief and afford profound satisfaction. It's a long lane that has no turning and the turning has definitely come for Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini.

For a notoriously long time there was an unbroken succession of totalitarian victories in both the diplomatic and military fields of strategy. But last September, the widely heralded blitz on England failed to materialize. The failure of the winey Hitler and the obstreperous Goetting to deliver Britain as planned would ordinarily have appeared as the staggering defeat that it actually was.

But the humiliating defeat of the German air armada was clouded in the mind of the world by a furious warfare of paper and words, propaganda to suit. Tales of secret weapons, inflated figures on the overestimated German air force, leading to invasion armies about to be disgorged on England's shores from vast aggregations of shipping, these and innumerable other yarns inundated the world press.

Thrills were also made at the Suez Canal. Gibraltar was to be lifted. The East Indies and Singapore were in peril. New Zealand and Australia were enduring—there were the stories emanating from Rome, Berlin and Tokyo, to divert attention from the collapse of Germany's summer blitzkrieg on Britain. That these propaganda efforts were so effective in the United States is a credit to the power of looking in the modern age. Long after 1941, Britain had come to his reward.

Under cover of Hitler's prosecution with Britain, Mussolini committed the prize blow of the century, given with envy at the success of his hated rival in Berlin. Mussolini attacked Greece. Germany had everything in need of peace in the Balkans. Germany had everything to lose and nothing to gain by Balkan warfare. That was England's first good break. Greece struck furiously at the Italian armies in Albania and General Wavell dealt stunning blows upon Italy's North Africa, Eritrea and Ethiopia. Simultaneously British Air and Naval forces attacked Italy both at home and abroad, crippling her army, navy and air strength.

These made the dramatic and amazing victories of the Anglo-Greek forces were the headlines of the world press. And once again a traffic war of propaganda is sned from Berlin and Tokyo. There was no heart or spirit left in the Italian press. The German ambassador to Tokyo indicated the financially embarrassed Japanese to make a threatening posture toward Singapore. Immediately the Australian Prime Minister warned Japan that such moves meant war and Aussie divisions disembarked at Singapore.

Japan pulled in her horns and complained of the world misunderstanding her peaceful motives. A drop piece of American humor lightened the tension when, in explaining the presence of two United States naval squadrons in Australian waters, the world was told that they were there for recreational activities. Imagine any one leaving Hawaii to go anywhere on earth for "recreation." It was a form of humor very well understood in Tokyo. It countered well with Japan's invasion of peaceful China and her use of artillery and bombing planes to restore order.

The Rome-Berlin situation became so uncertain in the opinion of the small governing caste in Japan that the extraordinary expedient of sending their Foreign Minister to Germany and Italy to observe conditions personally was deemed wise. In order to impress the vacillating Japanese and to boost prestige at home, Hitler launched another blitz campaign of diplomacy against Yugoslavia. When his success was practically assured, it may be imagined what consternation reigned in Berlin, when a coup d'état in Belgrade threw out the government that attempted to align Yugoslavia with the Axis. For the Japanese minister was in Berlin at that very hour.

The Japanese consider democratic statesmanship a very great joke indeed. They understand only one form of diplomacy—that of deception, and that of force. So it was no adventurous circumstance that during the journey of the Japanese official he looted the fresh victories of the Greek army in Albania, the destruction of the last Italian strongholds in Eritrea and Ethiopia, the destruction of more Italian naval vessels; the heaviest bombing attacks yet experienced in Berlin—and in direct consequence of those Anglo-Greek victories, the first stunning defeat for Hitler's prized bloodless warfare technique; his failure in Yugoslavia.

Every European knows the significance of Yugoslavia. That country, with a population equal to that of the state of New York, is surrounded with Axis armies. It is vastly outnumbered. Its equipment stands no comparison with that of the axis. It has no industry to back the Yugoslav army. Yet the fact that Germany cannot win has become so apparent to Serbian leaders that they are prepared to fight with England in spite of the great odds against them in point of numbers. The Serbians are equipped with hearts of oak and are muscled like wrestlers. They carry a sock in both fists!

There is one fly in Yugoslav ointment of course. The Croats are one of the minority races inhabiting that country, and they oppose cancelling the Axis commitment. Why? Well, Yugoslavia is a very rugged and mountainous country. But the northern provinces are plains bordering on Germany and cannot be well defended. These plains are the homeland of the Croats. Hence their fecklessness toward the Nazi alliance. They have been a thorn in the side of the Serbians ever since the country was organized after the World War. So the Serbians would not be too sensitive over what happens to the Croats if war with Germany and Italy develops. Both the army and the government are now in Serbian hands and they are super-patriots. The soldiers of Serbian, Greek and Turkish nationality are among the bravest and hardest fighters on earth.

Hitler cannot use the Croats against the Serbs as he used the minorities in Czechoslovakia against the Czechs. The Serbs are in the central and southern mountain regions beyond the reach of mechanized German divisions. But there are valleys through which the Greeks and British can quickly reach them. The bridges and the mountainous over which the German army crossed the Danube would be blown to bits by the RAF and the Germans would be in a bad way if war with Yugoslavia impleads.

Repeatedly I have written in these columns that the Germans were in a bad way. The world will see how desperate is Hitler's position in the very near future. His predicament is now revealed whether he fights Yugoslavia or whether he doesn't. England has the initiative now. It is far from her supply bases. But she is in a more advantageous position than is Germany. We will return to Salonika next week and deal with the Balkans in greater detail. Every dog has his day. Hitler has had his! Herbert B. Allen.

Think It Over

The United States is one of the most favored regions of the world. The inestimable value of our natural resources of soil, timber, mineral wealth, fisheries, and our climatic advantages, are the envy of the civilized world.

The ingenuity of American inventors, engineers, and chemists; the organizing and merchandising abilities of our business men; the outstanding productivity of our farmers; the skill and industry of our labor; and resources of our financiers, are world renowned.

Behind these vast developments in agriculture, industry, commerce and finance, are a people whose intelligence and ability, whose energy and adaptability, are universally recognized.

The United States has a capacity to produce more of the material things of life than the population of these forty-eight states could possibly consume, on a reasonably high standard of living—a standard higher than any the world has yet provided. Yet this country has far too few families who actually enjoy an abundance of the things which our country is capable of supplying on a national scale.

Broadly speaking, there are only three reasons why this country is not a veritable Utopia in which to live. Either there is something wrong with our country—something wrong with our people—or something wrong with our methods. No rational person believes there is anything wrong with our country; there does not appear to be anything radically wrong with our people; which leaves only the alternative that there must be something drastically wrong with our methods.

We cling to the methods and habits which prevailed in this country during its formative years with a truly patriotic fervor. The machine age may have rendered many of these old customs and usages as futile as a third cart on a mule. But the chains of habit so fetter the American mind that even the catastrophe of a terrible depression could not liberate the nation's intelligence.

Mississippi is an American state. Like the United States it has many intricate and involved problems. Like the United States it has its heritage of custom, usage, and tradition. It is no more easy for a Mississippian to change his mind and his habits than it is for a New Yorker, an Irishman, or an Oregonian. Nor is it any more difficult; that is the point.

The insularity of the modern Southerner is a myth and a delusion; it is sheer nonsense! He is merely the geographical counterpart of his brothers in New England or the Midwest. He clings just as stubbornly to his ideas as they do to theirs—no more, and no less. Taken east, west, north and south, we are mostly as intellectually indolent as we can very well be—and still get by.

Only disaster of paralyzing magnitude compelled the Kansan to abandon wheat; only something comparable will eventually compel Mississippians to abandon cotton. These so-called money crops die a hard death. And speaking of money crops—and cotton isn't it rather pathetic to refer currently to cotton as a money crop? Perhaps it depends on what you call money.

In terms of stark reality, when we have a cotton crop which sells for around seventy-five million dollars, and we divide that amount among two million, one hundred thousand Mississippians, we have the grand sum of around thirty-five dollars per capita. This would pay a New Orleans hotel bill for nearly two days during Mardi Gras—without meals of course. When you eat in New Orleans you take your dough down there and put it on the line.

The sad part of old King Cotton's ruthless reign is that all too often his abject subjects pay for the privilege of serving complacently before his throne—without meals too! How much does it cost Mississippi, every man, woman and child in Mississippi, to cling to our traditional ways of life, and certain inherited concepts of life? How much does it cost in terms of hard, cold cash—in terms of human misery incalculable—in families separated unnecessarily and in other ways which will immediately occur to all of us?

Is there an intelligent man who will rise up and say that there is anything wrong with Mississippi; that there is anything wrong with we Mississippians (excepting our cursed pigheadedness)? Then is there an intelligent man who will rise up and say that there is nothing wrong with our methods? Shades of Whitfield! Let us get about the King's business. Who was it that said that the Lord helps those who help themselves? Think it over!

We just needed one block to make a pyramid of perfection. We now have one. Mrs. W. G. Block, of West, Miss., whom we extend welcome.

I know nothing about him, but as he paid cash money, I have put on L. D. Farrar, of Corinth for six months.

Captain Jimmie Shaw stopped over in Grenada a few days enroute from Fort Sill to Camp Blanding.

Please look at your expiration date and do the needful. We have not had time to send out notices.

LOST: Morrison Thomas.

Jesse Whitten from the edge of the free state was a visitor at the Trust Bank corner Saturday.

Well, by good luck and the forbearance of our creditors we have got by another first of the month, fortunately.

Shorty Smith should get a big hat while he is at it.

It looks like nothing but the pure in heart can get into this man's army. About two-thirds of them are being turned back.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF THE SOPHOMORE CLASS

(By Rogers Pleasants.)

Members of the Sophomore Class have been called everything from silly to sophisticated, but we're really not. We're just proud and we wouldn't be proud to be a member of this class?

To begin with, in scholarship we just can't be beaten. This year the Sophomore Class alone furnished six out of eighteen possible contestants. All other classes furnished four, each. Last year our class furnished four contestants for this contest, and each one placed high in the district.

However, our class doesn't excel in scholarship alone. There is no extracurricular activity in the school in which some member of our class does not participate. The Grenada Band has many sophomores, since who have been in it for years: John Mitchell, Lynn Rose, Rogers Pleasants, Betty Esther Edwards, Jack Calk, Jay Gore, and Bessie Moore. Half of the band drum majors are sophomores—Lili York, Martha Johnson, and Margaret Stanley. The Glee Club is made up of twenty members of our class. Ten of these are in the Field Meet Chorus: Mary Nell Rayburn, Ruth Townes, Margaret Bell, and Paul Hill are in the Music Department. Three members of the Public Speaking Department hail from among us. We have representatives in the Junior Classical League, 4-H Club, and the Girl Reserves.

Both Sophomore boys and girls have always played a prominent part in athletics. In basketball, baseball, football, and track we have "veteran" players. After all, don't we have reasons to be proud?

THE DIRT RAUBER

(The Sophomore Class)

Why does Josephine like to stay around Miss Stephenson's room at noon?

Have you seen that pretty pin Billy Guy is wearing? Wonder how Turnip took about that?

Have you please take one of the girls so the rest can turn to some one else?

Mr. Watson: "Lynn, did you take a bath?"

Lynn Rose: "No sir. Is one missing?"

We heard David Horton and Mildred Moss, David Childers and Joyce Fleming had quite a time on a weiner roast last week.

Why was Olivia Pulliam looking out the window Tuesday afternoon before Of course, it COULDN'T have been the baseball boys boys left for Sardis. Sophomore president?

Who was the center of attraction for Margaret Bell and Margaret Cannon Saturday night? He was driving a good-looking Ford, and he was very handsome.

Rogers Pleasants' heart is definitely not in Grenada any longer. For more information, consult Rogers himself.

It seems that a certain sophomore is keeping tab on Warren Robinson, leaving a certain Freshman out entirely.

Why is it that E. C. Litten always "vibrates" when he gets up to say something?

Found on Rowe Rhett's Biology book: BEWARE, bugs in here.

Beatrice Taylor still smiles when you mention Raymond Collins.

Pauline says her's and Billy's romance went to the dogs. How about it, Billy?

We are all wondering why the baseball boys liked Sardis. It couldn't possibly be the girls they saw. Or could it?

What's the matter with Lula Mae McCormick and Johnnie Lee King?

Wonder what it is in the showers that scares Billy Buck so?

Wonder whose majorette pin that was that Johnnie Mitchell was so proudly showing?

It seems that Martha Johnson is pretty well occupied lately.

It seems that Jay Gore preferred a certain freshman's company Friday night. (Margaret Green, in case you're interested.)

Miss Williamson has One Big Interest outside of Science. Could it be she's interested in buying lumber?

Whose senior class ring is Sybil Roane wearing? It looks rather large.

We observe that Lynn Rose dated his former girl friend Sunday night. Wonder what happened between him and certain eighth grader?

Why has Terry Mack started combing his hair and wearing Meritt's coat?

Whom does Laverne Wilson find interesting sitting behind Jean Scott in Algebra Class?

Audrey, is it Ted that makes you jump every time the telephone rings?

Frances Kincaid has had three dreams in a row. What could they mean? Who were they about? We wonder.

It seems as if Lucy and Jack are still going as strong as ever.

Who is it that S. B. Cowan's been trying to see lately?

Ask Billy Horton whom that special delivery letter was from last week.

FIELD MEET

(Lucy Moss)

On Saturday, March 22nd, the annual literary field meet was held at the Grenada High School, from 9 to 12 a. m. Grenada High School was well represented in this event by the following:

Charlie Kenwright, English IV; Mary Lou Cullen, English III; Rogers Pleasants, English II; Betty Jane Yeager, English I; Larry Noble, General Science; Wilfred Saunders, Biology; Margaret Cannon, Home Economics; Louise Aven, Chemistry; Bessie Moore, World History; Bessie Cohen, American History; Thomas Bell, American Government; Catherine Herring, Algebra I; T. W. Goodwin, Advanced Arithmetic.

Ralph Blaylock, Plane Geometry; Alameda Tiltman, Bookkeeping; Hilda Campbell, Typing; Margaret Green, Latin I; Lucy Moss, Latin II.

TRACKSTERS MAKE FAIR SHOWING

(Edgar Turnipseed)

Saturday, March 22, found the Grenada High Bulldogs losing their first track meet of the 1941 season to Duck Hill. Mickey Angevine, lanky sprinter, and Louis Barranco, only letter man from last year's squad, kept the Bulldogs in the meet with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Duck Hill's veteran team, led by L. Leverette with 15 points, rolled up 88 points to Grenada's 67.

Martha Cullen, fast stepping Junior High lass, was the outstanding girl athlete with eight points.

WINS ORATORICAL CONTEST

Each year the American Legion sponsors an oratorical contest. The elimination begins in the school, after which the winner enters a county contest, and then a statewide contest. Bobby Weir and Billy Townsend entered this contest, and the decision was in favor of Bobby. In behalf of the entire student body and the faculty, we wish Bobby much success in his future contests.

PRELIMINARY CONTEST HELD IN PIANO

On March 25 in the school auditorium, Miss Donaldson held the preliminary piano contest. The purpose of this contest was to select a representative to the district contest to be held here April 11. Ruth Townes and Dorothy Talbert were the two contestants. Dorothy was selected by the judges to represent the school.

JOE TALBERT WINS SPELLING

The Memphis Press-Scimitar has sponsored a National Spelling Bee among certain schools which they have invited. The contest begins in the school, then the county, the district, and finally the district winners of the nation "spell it out." Joe Talbert, a spelling seventh grader, won the school and then the county contest. The district contest is May 4 between county winners in Mississippi, Tennessee, Arkansas, and part of Missouri. We hope Joe can outspell them all!

RITZ TRUMPETERS

Mary Nell Rayburn

On April 7 the band will sponsor the Ritz Trumpeters, an all-star instrumental organization, featuring quartets in brass. These four trumpeters are wizards at playing saxophones, trumpets, trombone, clarinets, bassoon, and piano. The program will include solos, duets, quartets with comedy, no solo, and harmony. This will be Monday, April 7, at 3:30 p. m. The admission is 20¢ and all over the cost of securing the program will go to the band. This is the outstanding assembly program of the year and one that no one should miss.

DISTRICT FIELD MEET

Margaret Cannon

In the previous years there has been one cup given to the school having the most points from the literary, athletic, and platform events in the North Central region.

This year, however, there will be three cups given: one for outstanding literary work, one for the most outstanding athletic team in the district, and one for the most outstanding platform event.

We are hoping that Grenada High School will win all three cups.

NEWS AND VIEWS OF THE BASEBALL WORLD

By Bessie Moore

The baseball season was officially opened with a game against Charleston, our big rival for the championship. The outcome, as most of you know, was 18 to 2 in our favor. Our good-looking southpaw, "Egg" Smith, pitched the game.

The next game was scheduled to be played with Sardis here, but since our field was not in shape, we exchanged games and played up there. The game opened with "Big Boy" William Speers pitching for us and Long pitching for Sardis. (I've forgotten the other Sardis pitcher.) In the first inning Grenada made 8 runs to Sardis' none. Speers had those boys so scared that they couldn't stand up to the plate and I can't blame them. Although Sardis got men on base (once) Speers kept cool as a cucumber. The final score was 16 to 1. In whose favor? Ours, of course!

WHY I'M GLAD I'M AN AMERICAN

By Betty Ann Gresham

Today, more than any other time, I am glad I can stand up and say that I'm an American. There is no wish I cannot express, or any comment I cannot make, about my country. I am a part of a big democracy and not of a dictatorship. One man has as much right as his next door neighbor.

I have the right to the education needed, and I always receive it in its true form. When I'm out of school, I'm not afraid of being "yanked" off the street because of a possible air raid. In my life there is no fear, because I know that democracy will outshine all other governments.

I have needed food and it isn't given to me as rations. I can buy what I want and not have to scrounge to get it. The letters which I mail aren't opened and read.

I have privacy, at home—privilege denied people in other countries. Any one can see why I am proud that I am an American! (Continued on page 7)

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Our dog, Billo, got two steak breakfasts Sunday. It looks like he has a stomach capacity far beyond his size. Several have been wondering where Mike Coker is. Be patient. He will be back shaking hands about 1943.

It now looks like Britain pulled a fast one on Hitler in Yugoslavia. You cannot beat the British in diplomacy. That episode may well be the turning point against Hitler in this war.

We just needed one block to make a pyramid of perfection. We now have one. Mrs. W. G. Block, of West, Miss., whom we extend welcome.

10,000 TROOPS TO MASS IN FLAG DAY CEREMONY

Flag Day Ceremonial Camp Blending will be Sunday, April 6. Troops of both the 1st and 2nd Divisions will be massed on the Parade Field on either side of the flagpole, each Division on its respective side. Also, the various troops of the 1st Division, here will be present, along with the civilian guests. A short but impressive ceremony of raising the United States flag will be witnessed at this hour, and for the first time, several bands of the two divisions will play for the occasion, and the flag will be raised by the color guard. General Albert H. Blumstein, retired, National Guardsman of Florida, formerly commander of the 1st Division, and after whom the Camp was named.

Guests of honor will include the two members of the 1st Division, Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana, Lieut. General Herbert J. Brown, commander of the Third Army, Major General Jay H. Bonet, Commander of the Fourth Corps, Brigadier General John P. Smith, Commander of the Fourth Corps Area and the Adjutant General.

STORK ARRIVES MAY YOUR YOUNG TRAVELER BE A PLEASANT ONE

The stork flew by and left Headquarters Battery twelve innocent and one big babies. He left them as such and vanced in front of us and to have their diapers changed you imagine the top idea being a mother anyway, even if he is big and fat.

Seriously on a whole these men are older than most of us. They are big, healthy looking fellows from the good ole Magnolia State. They, at least to us, of such a race that would quickly fit into this outfit in a little of us time.

We welcome you all with open arms. We want you all to be our friends and buddies in the ranks. We are all here for the same purpose. To do our share in the building of an impregnable defense against all enemies who may ever. In total defense there must be total cooperation. Give us yours and this battery will do the same.

Here are the names of the 12 soldiers and where they call home, their new address in letters should have the following in full: "Name" Hq. Btry, 1st Bn, 11th T. A., A. P. O. 31, Camp Blending, Fla.

Private Frank M. Doley, Tulea, Thomas A. Nelson, Pope, James Wallace Martin, Water Valley, Henry B. Glover, Greenwood, Wm. R. Rice, Carrollton, Wm. Ray Trussell, Ita Bena, Richard J. Hardaway, Carthage, Charles P. Sturgeon, Torrington, Edward L. Ricks, Grenada, Charles J. Pope, Jackson, Charles J. Mooney, Collins, and Robert F. Poe, Duck Hill.

There has been quite a bit of discussion as to what we should call the new man. Uncle Sam has given us "Selectees," "Draftees," "Inductees" or "Trainees." Neither of the four names are exactly appropriate. When we greet one let's say, "Hi there soldier." That will be just some friendly and feelings.

Here is what one new soldier said over in the 15th Infantry. "It is true that they are not allowed to call us draftees." "Yes," replied the officer. "The soldier looked doubtful. Well, it is all right to call each other draftees. It is exactly what I am, cause you draft me." "No," said the officer. "You are not a draftee, you are a soldier."

We are sure that Bill Hardy was turned down, and Henry Ray, Jr. was sent to Louisiana to work in a finance office. Not all of the men in the battery were down in the reception hall expecting to be on hand to greet them. Lt. McArthur, leaders of the Grenada County men, he can and others that have in the battery know and recommend.

There it goes that General Thos mind wonders up toward Leland quite a bit. Could it be caused by "Spring in the air," or, perhaps, something a bit more serious.

Sergeant Theisman, Private Dennis Science and Private Loyd Turner have devised a new method of getting out of work. They merely keep on sleeping when the whistle blows. This method has been revised for some unknown reason.

Our battery looking hopeful. Robt. James won his fight Friday night over a fellow that out weighed him about 15 pounds. Robt. could not wish for a better record, two bouts and two wins.

General Sumpter L. Lowery, Jr., continued several of the men in this battery here and for a week for waving at the female sex. He should have done it. If it was natural for a man to wave at a woman I'm sure the General would not have thought thought nothing of it.

We had a pleasant surprise Saturday morning in the inspection visit of General Sumpter L. Lowery, Jr. All officers including the other inspecting officers from Lieut. Colonels down to Second Lieutenants agreed with him on what he said was wrong with the inspection. Never in my life have I seen so many people agree without question on the same thing.

At Mississippi really has powerful representation in Washington, it's time they show some results. People are getting to be skeptical. It looks like officers work hard to get an office, then sit down and rest until election time rolls around again.

Our guess is that the United States will be at war before July 1st.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

Last Wednesday in chapel, Mr. Rundle gave an excellent talk on THE CODE OF THE GOOD AMERICAN. It was prepared by William J. Hutchins. Mr. Hutchins was awarded first place and a prize of $5000 in a national competition in 1916 by the Character Education Institution in Washington, D. C. Mr. Rundle said that citizens who are good Americans try to become strong and useful and worthy of their nation. If so, they obey the laws of right living. They are as follows:

I. The law of self-control—The good American will control himself, his temper, thoughts and actions, and will not ridicule the character of another.

II. The law of good health—He also tries to gain and keep good health. The welfare of our country depends upon those who are physically fit.

III. The law of kindness—The good American is kind in his thoughts, speech, and acts.

IV. The law of sportsmanship will always be right. A good American plays fair. He is a good loser and a generous winner. In his work and play he is generous, fair, and honorable.

V. The law of self-reliance—Self-reliance is silly. Self-reliance is necessary to citizens who would be strong and useful. Listen to the advice of older people.

VI. The law of duty.

VII. The law of good workmanship—The good American does the right thing in the right way.

VIII. The law of reliability—He is honest in word and act.

IX. The law of truth—He would have a rod on his back than a lie on his soul.

X. The law of teamwork—Our good Americans alone cannot build a bridge, but many joining together can do anything.

JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

Lucy Moss

The last meeting of the Junior Classical League was held at the home of Margaret Green. There were about twenty members present, and these enjoyed a Latin card game of "Go Fish" for about two hours. At the end of the game, Ruth Lee Morrow was awarded high score prize. To conclude the enjoyable evening, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her mother. The members are looking forward to a winter roast to be given Friday night, March 28, at the home of Poly A. Parker.

COTTON PICKIN' TIME

By Lucy Moss

The hot summer sun beat down on the backs of the cotton pickers in Colonel Watkins' field. It was late afternoon and almost time for the pickers to quit for the day: the time of day little Melindy Gorgianna, youngest of Mammy Corwider's brood of seven, most enjoyed. Melindy was considered too little to pick cotton but she had the time of her life in the fields every day from dawn 'til dark. She had her own little flour sack and looked very business-like strutting up and down the rows of tall cotton. However, she soon tired of this and would give it up for a more pleasant occupation. She loved to ride up and down the rows on Mammy's sack of cotton. Mammy would say, "Melindy, you pasky little nigger, you. Git off'n my sack and go long wid you. I've got work to do." Melindy paid no attention to her: Mammy grumbled at everybody, even old Marse Colonel.

The time of day Melindy loved best was at dusk when the long procession of tired darkies toiled to the scales to weigh the days pickin's. The little pickaninies scampered around, just as fresh as they had been early that morning; and little Melindy was a ring leader in all the mischief.

Melindy had been told time and time again to stay out of the cotton, but orders did not bother her. Every evening after the rest of the darkies had gone home to eat their pone of corn-bread and molasses, Melindy lingered. When all the other "niggers" were out of sight, she took a flying leap and landed in the downy cotton. For about an hour, she played happily in the cotton, jumping from the top to the bottom, and burying herself in it. When she grew hungry for her supper, she assumed an innocent expression and went home. When asked where she'd been, she candidly would reply, "Ah been a' playin' with Dilliah Jones."

TROUBLE IN PARADISE

The play to be presented by the class of '41 is a comedy in three acts entitled TROUBLE IN PARADISE. It is based on the antics of boys and girls in a Paradise College, and the situation that arise are very much like those of any real college.

"Specs" John Martin (Billy Semmes) is a medical student who keeps odd things of a medical nature such as skeletons and tarantulas, in his room. "Wild" Bill Harlow (Thomas Houston) and Phil Bradley (Thomas Bell) are the football heroes. Harlow is the dumber type of player and Bradley is captain of the team and a good student. "Skinny" Davis (John Keeton) is a tyrannical sophomore, head of a fraternity, and has as "his" freshman, Joe Hamilton, (Billy Townsend) a timid 1st year student.

The main point of interest lies in the students' trying to keep Jean Harmon, (Betty Rule) an orphaned senior, in school. The boys are helped by Doris Green (Betty Ann Smith), Sophie Green (Opella Smith) and Fay Moore, the college flirt (Katy Christie), and hindered by the dormitory matron, Miss Wheelbarrow (Helen Chapman), her "boy friend" Prof. Fish Solomon (Ed. McCormick) and Daisy Marks, the Vamp (Maie Bailey).

The play is further enhanced by Aunt Mildred Moore (Dorothy Parks), Porter Hook, a wealthy student (Boyle Weir), Alice Hamilton (Grace Smith), Freshman Hamilton's younger sister and Andrew "Snowball" Jackson (Charlie Kenwright), the colored janitor.

With such an amusing play and such well selected players, this comedy is sure to be one of the most enjoyable ever given here. We are looking forward to an evening of delightful entertainment by our sister class of '41.

Mary Libba Horton (and two kind seniors, mostly two kind seniors).

SATURDAY NIGHT BATH

By Maxine Tilghman

"Saturday again! Time for the famly bath!" thought Mrs. Smith as she hastily peeled potatoes for the Saturday night supper. Good heavens! Why did she have to live in the country. No electric light, no electric stove, no bathroom, no nothing! Thinking these things as she quickly prepared supper, Mrs. Smith was getting herself ready for the night's work. Supper done and eaten and the work not even started!

Mrs. Smith dragged the big wooden tub into the kitchen and then gathered up towels, bath rags, and clean night clothes. This done and the water hot, and John, her husband, was not there.

"Well, I suppose I will have to bathe Joe first," she said in a hurry to finish. Just as she got Joe in the tub, came John asking why he couldn't bathe first as usual. In her excitement, to get through with Joe, Mrs. Smith poured hot water on him. There he stood glaring at her as if it were her fault she had forgotten he was in the tub. At last! The baths were done, but the work had only started.

After the baths everyone felt better, but when Mrs. Smith looked at the kitchen floor, it was enough to take every kind of feeling out of her. Water here and everywhere and it had to be mopped before going to bed. The floor looked a sight of relief came from Mrs. Smith, but she refrained from thinking of the next morning when she would have all the clothes to pick up

HERO WORSHIP

By Sybil Roane

Billy was the best baseball player in the neighborhood. He was very proud of himself and struted around like a peacock every time he had helped win a game. Jean, the little girl next door, fairly worshipped him, but he hardly noticed her unless he wanted to tease somebody.

When a new girl moved in down the street, Jean was ready to give up. The girl was blond, small to her age, and very quiet. Jean was exactly opposite. Her hair was brown and straight, her eyes too long, and her face too freckled. Billy acted as if he were crazy about her from the start. He took her everywhere, but she wasn't interested in him at all. Billy tried to get her to go to the games on Saturday, but she wouldn't. Jean was desperate, but she didn't know what to do.

The day of the big game with the Southsiders, Billy's team, was a day Jean prayed Billy would ask her. But Billy was too flustered by John's beauty and to see anybody else. She had planned to go to the game, but on the day of the big game Billy showed up. She said she wasn't feeling well enough to go. She didn't sound very sick, but Billy wanted to believe she really was. Just before the game started, Billy thought of Jean and then he saw John. He didn't know what to do. Then he saw Jean and she was smiling and waiting for him. He took her every-

Deep-Rooted in the People's Needs

America confronts an uncertain future, wherein trials and emergencies undoubtedly abide. To steady ourselves we must have faith—faith in our own works, faith also in those with whom and for whom we labor.

The Illinois Central has that faith. It knows its own strength, experience and ability. It knows, too, that its roots as an institution are anchored deep in the needs of all the people. So rooted, it asks that we its friends may picture it to others:

Not as a vast aggregation of capital totaling 750 million dollars; but rather as the combined savings of men and women, some of whom may be living just across our street.

Not as the employer of 30,000 men and women, most of them far away; but rather as the livelihood of some people we know, who trade at our store and send their children to the same school we do.

Not as the payer of taxes totaling ten million dollars a year; but rather as a helper to carry the burden of governmental support to which we all contribute.

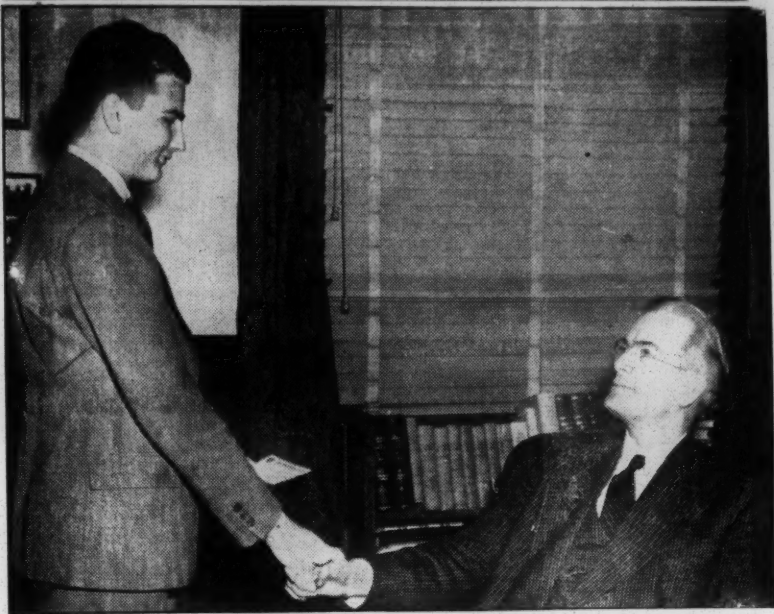

Not as the producer of eleven billion ton-miles of freight transportation annually; but rather as the carrier that takes our products to market and brings us fuel, clothing and food.

Not as the producer of 640 million miles of passenger transportation a year; but rather as the carrier that takes us and our neighbors where we want to go and brings us all safely home.

Not as anything mysterious at all; but rather as a local business, a good citizen and, above all, a good neighbor.

Mrs. Lee Rouse was hostess to the club which was well attended by an enthusiastic crowd of members.

Mrs. Neely in her usual impressive manner discussed the 1941 marketing proposition and we all are hoping that the plan will meet with success and that we will be near enough to the route to cooperate.

Upholstering furniture was also gone into in detail and most of us have at least one old chair that we are planning to remake for beauty and usefulness.

Knitting was planned for the next week and many other helpful and interesting subjects were touched upon.

Twentieth Century Club FIELD HOMES AND GARDENS TOUR TUESDAY

tractive daughters, Margaret and Eleanor, go the congratulations, perhaps mixed with some natural envy, for this beautiful new home.

Outside the city limits, into the space and glory of the great outdoors, to the lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Youngblood was the next treat of these fortunate journeyers. The delightfully rambling Spanish style architecture together with the lavish but tasteful use of bright colors spoke loudly of our neighbors "beyond the Rio Grande." Seldom in this section are we privileged to get quite the atmosphere of this home. Mrs. Youngblood was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Lee Lane. The wonderful old apple trees and the unusual little guest house were likewise enjoyed.

Always a highlight on any pilgrimage is the garden of Mrs. Will Hill. Regardless of the time of the year, weather conditions, aphids or any variety of garden vermin, Miss Josie, as her many friends love to call her, always has something worth driving many a mile to see. Her generosity and real garden knowledge is never withheld, and many gardens in Grenada have been started with plants from her garden. Right now her Azaleas, Ensigns and Empress Daffodils are a joy to behold, and the hyacinths remind one of Holland. Several different garden "pictures," one of which was a double white flowering peach flanked by white spirea, and the setting of the summerhouse, were beautiful to behold. As long as God reminds us of His goodness, each Spring, with such beauty, we know He has not forgotten His children.

Last but by no means least, was the interesting old Sherman home; now owned by Mrs. Walter Garner. This is also the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Garner and two boys, and Mr. and Mrs. Gunthrop. Mrs. Garner and Mrs. Gunthrop being the former Misses Dodie and Cora Sherman. The home and furnishings, together with the accessories, compare most favorably with anything seen by the writer, in Natchez or any other town, showing its antique treasures. In the "parlor" can be seen beautiful old love seats, chairs, sofas and fixtures. Unusual urns on antique pedestals, mantel and ceiling are all most interesting. There is such a wealth of handsome old furniture, wonderful ruby glass, figurines, paintings, old clocks, etc. that space and lack of time do not permit the writer to do justice to the contents of this home. At some future date a much fuller account would be very interesting or better still an opportunity to enjoy first hand these treasures, would be a privilege. These are the choice possessions of Mrs. Walter Garner, Mrs. George Garner and Mrs. Gunthrop.

The entire membership of the club felt it owed a debt of thanks to the program committee for arranging this most revealing and enjoyable tour. Mesdames Hathorn and Miss Lucile Owens are the members of this committee.

E. A. PENN WRITES ABOUT ELECTRIC RATES

Messrs. H. J. Ray,
J. B. Perry, Sr.,
Grenada, Miss.
Gentlemen:

Reference is made to your letters, that were published in the G.C.W. last two weeks, of discussion of the 7c per KWH flat rates the churches are now paying for their electrical current.

I heartily agree with you that this excessive flat rate charge is unreasonable and unjust and that after all taxes are added this rate is even more than 7c flat per KWH. My thought is that from all common reason, the churches should receive concession on their electrical consumption as any other necessary commodity they use instead of being charged the highest rate in the book for their current, the least that could be done would be to bill the churches on residential rates.

I have at hand a Rate Structure sheet from Paragould, Ark. and this city has their own system and is comparable in population to Grenada, and let us compare the difference of cost there and here and also the residue that accumulates from these rates.

Paragould, Ark. 640 KWH consumed, Residence, Combined Lighting, Cooking and or Refrigeration.

First 35 KWH at 4c $1.40
Next 65 KWH at 2c 1.30
Over 100 KWH at 1c (540 KWH) 9.75

(640 KWH) $12.94

A statement signed by the superintendent of that plant, with his invitation for anyone to visit there, go over the books as proof of his statement is that they began operation January 17, 1939 in competition with the Arkansas Utilities Company and that on that date the city reduced the prevailing rates approximately $14,000.00 per year and that this reduction alone will pay for the plant in 15 years, that the city only has approximately 80 percent of the meters in service and that the NET profit on this plant from January 17, 1940 to January 17, 1941 was $28,102.36.

Most City owned plants furnish churches and institutions their electricity either at no charge or at cost of production, but we here in Grenada are paying the highest rate available for our churches, why do we have to do this?

Very truly yours,

E. A. Penn.

Sax Weir told me something to put in the paper, but I am not going to do it.

LOCAL MEN ENTER U. S. ARMY AIR CORPS

John Brown White, son of Mr. John Eddie White, 53 Adams and Clyde Evans Horn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Darrow Horn, 301 Union Street will leave from Greenwood for Jackson, where they will be enlisted in the Regular Army Air Corps.

Both of these young men are eager to enter upon a military career and are both keenly interested in all that concerns a mechanical career. They will fill two vacancies for the 1st Corps, McDill Field, Fla., offered them by Sergeant Waymond Gillard, U. S. Army Recruiter, Greenwood, Miss.

Both young men have many friends who will wish them lots of good fortune in the new work.

B. & P. W. CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

The Business and Professional Women's Club held its April meeting with Miss Lucile Cook as hostess. There were 12 members and 11 guests present.

After the meeting opened in usual form, the chairman of the nominating committee gave her report. A motion was duly made and seconded unanimously to elect officers selected by the nominating committee. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mrs. Bessie Trotman; 1st Vice President, Miss Margaret Stockard; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Lois Hallam; 3rd Vice President, Miss Kathleen Watson; Secretary, Mrs. Nannie Alexander; Treasurer, Miss Lola Bell.

Miss Mae Rose introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Mr. W. A. Winter. The Club was very fortunate to have Mr. Winter for this meeting, and his talk on rules and procedure of the State Legislature was instructive, and of great interest to the club. After a social hour, which was greatly enjoyed we adjourned to meet May 6th.—Reporter.

John Hamby, now working in Metal Shop 17, at the Navy Yard in Charleston, wants to know how much the G.C.W. costs. It costs two dollars a year, John, and this is a sample copy.
